New Basic Plan Of Food Allocation

PROGRESSIVE CUTS TO BE MADE

Special Organisation To End Red-Tapism

MADRAS, June 5 (API).

INDIA'S Food Minister, Mr. Jairamdas Daulatram, said here today that all the provincial and State governments would be informed at a conference to be held in July at Delhi the Central Government's new basic plan of food allocation to deficit provinces for the year 1950/51 based on the Government's food self-sufficiency plan.

Addressing a press conference this evening, Mr. Jairamdas said that according to this new basic plan, there would be a "progressive cut" in the Centre's food allocation to the deficit provinces and States. The ultimate aim of the Government was to stop the allocation altogether, he added.

The Food Minister stated that this did not mean that the Government would not render any help to any province if it could not possibly produce all they now required for Rationing. That help from the Centre would be only from the internal resources of the country and not by foreign imports. Whatever help the Central Government could render to deficit provinces after 1951 would be from the surplus parts of India, he said.

The Food Minister who had discussions with the Madras food officials on their "Grow More Food programme during his two-day stay in the city, said that he was very much impressed by the provincial government's determination to make the province self-sufficient in the shortest time possible.

Since food imports were absorbing a substantial proportion of dollar and sterling foreign exchange, it was not possible for the country to import an adequate quantity of cheap consumer goods, to enable the man-in-the-street to enjoy a higher standard of living at a reasonable cost.

EARNESTNESS

His discussions with the Madras Government showed that there was great earnestness in preparing a realistic programme of food production, taking into account the need of co-relating the programme to availability of money, men and materials.

The distinctive feature of the programme for the coming six seasons, he said, was the priority which the food programme was likely to receive and the special arrangements contemplated to cut the delays of red-tapism. A special organisation was proposed to be set up by the provincial government to accelerate the implementation of the programme.

Mr. Jairamdas Daulatram expected that this would greatly facilitate quick decisions. A committee of the Cabinet may also be entrusted with the task of co-ordinating and facilitating prompt decisions which require the assent of more than one department.

PACHMARHI: The Central Provinces Government has decided to introduce mechanised cultivation in 1,000 acres of land, under private ownership in the wheat-growing areas in the northern parts of the province.

P. Patil, addressing a special conference of members of the Nasik District Rural Development Board here this afternoon.

A LIVING WAGE FOR INDIA'S WORKERS

Committee's Recommendations

NEW DELHI, June 5 (API):

The Fair Wages Committee—with four representatives each of Labour employers and the Government—will discuss in detail for three days from tomorrow the tentative conclusions that have been reached and incorporated in a draft report on the principles that should govern the fixation of fair wages for industrial labour and the machinery to implement them.

The conclusions, based on the discussions hitherto held on the subject by the Committee, are said to represent a compromise between the approaches to the issue by the labour and employers respectively. They are reported to have struck a via media between the ideal of a living wage for labour obtaining in progressive countries and the minimum wage level which a representative of the labour has characterised as barely adequate to satisfy the "brute needs" of the wage earner.

LIVING WAGE

The members of the Committee seem to have felt that a living wage should be one that would enable a wage-earner to have a standard of living with health and decency and a measure of frugal comfort with provision for "wintry days". In the present economic conditions, such a wage-level can only remain an ideal to be attained in the near future.

According to them, the minimum wage must include provision for some measure of education, medical requirements and amenities besides bare sustenance. The representatives of employers are said to have pointed out that education and health were charges on the state.

Laying down the principles of what they consider as fair wages, the members recommended that the "minimum wage" should represent the lower limit of the fair wage, the upper limit being the capacity of industry to pay. Between these two, the Committee is wage" should depend on (1) the productivity of labour, (2) the prevailing rates of wages in the same or similar occupations in the same or neighbouring localities, (3) the level of the national income and its distribution, and (4) the place of the industry concerned in the economy of the country.

After these conclusions on what they

DADOO CONDEMNS WHITE MAN'S MANOEUVRES

NEW DELHI, June 5 (A.P.I.).

Dr Dadoo, who was addressing the members of the Indian Constituent Assembly, said: "In South Africa the non-white people as a class was the victim of racial discrimination and economic exploitation. Dr. Rajendra Prasad, President, Indian Constituent Assembly, presiding over the meeting assured Dr. Dadoo that the Indian Government and the Indian people would always stand for the advancement of the African people.

These schools will cater for the educational requirements of Warlis in the taluka.

Cheap school buildings have been erected at moderate cost and the Premier visited three such schools. He expressed satisfaction at the local enthusiasm to counteract illiteracy. Thousands of Adiwasis walked miles to hear the Premier, who is known to many as their benefactor.

CITY FATHERS TO RESUME TALKS

Bid To End Sweepers' Strike

BOMBAY, Sunday.

Desperate efforts are being made by the "ad hoc" Committee of the city Corporators to bring about an amicable settlemment between the Municipal Commissioner and the striking sweepers.

It is reliably learnt that the Managing Committee of the Municipal Kamgar Sangh has now fully authorised the "ad hoc" Committee to resume negotiations with the Municipal Commissioner. Rapid developments are expected following this decision of the Sangh.

Meanwhile, the strike continues, both the parties being adamant. Neither the Government nor the Municipality is in a mood to compromise with the workers. A Government spokesman told a representative of this paper that both the Government and the Municipality are prepared to fight to the bitter end; and this for the reason that the demands of the strikers are simply preposterous. The strikers on the other hand are equally determined to go on indefinitely.

IMPROVING KALYAN SANITATION

28-Lakh Water Supply And Drainage Scheme

(From Our Correspondent.)

KALYAN, June 5.

The water supply and drainage scheme for Kalyan city has been completed and all the plans and papers concerning it are with the Public Health Engineer. The work will be started as soon as the Municipal deputation meets the Minister for Public Health, and within a couple of years the Kalyan public will have the tap water", said Mr. K. L. Bhide, President, Kalyan Borough Municipality when interviewed by your correspondent about his party's programme for the coming three years.

Mr. Bhide further said that one-third of the expenditure was granted by the Government and two-third was given as a loan.

The total approximate estimate for the schtme is 28 lakhs. Mr. V. L. Mehta, Finance Minister, Government of Bombay, has promised that the Kalyan Water Supply and Drainage Scheme will never remain unfinished for want of financial help.

Financial Difficulties

Another great handicap of the Municipality, the President said, is the Municipal finances which is far from satisfactory.

Mr. Bhice went on to say that now the Assessment officer appointed by the Government has made a revision of the whole town in respect of assessment list which will be finally completed after appeals from the landlords of the buildings numbering over 4,000 have been decided by the appeiate tuthority. When the assessment will finally be settled, the President said, the income of the Municipality will be doubled (nearly from four lakhs to eight lakhs of rupees annually). The financial position of the Municipality will then be improved and better amenities to the public can be carried on and then we hope will escape public abuses.

FOUR PEOPLE WITH 'NO THOUGHT FOR THE MORROW'

The behaviour of four young people from Ireland was severely criticised by the Bench at Birmingham, when they were found guilty of obtaining credit by false pretences from a restaurant.

Before the Court were Mary Helena O'Conner, aged 19, Mary Christine McCauley, aged 17, John Wlynn, aged 21, and John Joseph Murray, aged 23, all of no fixed address.

It was stated that Mary O'Conner was already on probation for a previous offence and the Bench decided that she and Mary McCauley should be placed on probation for 12 months. Glynn was fined £2 and Murray £4.

The prosecution stated that all four went into a restaurant in High-street, Binmingham, and ordered a meal.

After they had eaten it, they walked out without paying, but were seen by the assistant manageress. She followed them into the street, and caught hold of Mary O'Conner.

Murray came back and used obscene language to the manageress, and Mary O'Conner twisted herself [illegible] and ran away.

The incident had been watched by Mr. James Craig, who followed Mary O'Conner, took her by the arm and led her back to the restaurant. While he was doing so, Murray came up from behind and struck him on the back of the neck. Mr. Craig, however, held on to the girl, who was later handed over to the police. Det. Radford said that the four defendants had all come to Birmingham from Dublin within the last two years.

"WANDERED BY DAY"

They had all held different jobs for brief whiles. Now they wandered about the city by day and slept on bombed property at night. In this way they managed to evade the police.

Mary O'Conner had been responsible for two thefts which she asked to be taken into consideration.

The chairman, Mr. W. H. Bulpitt, said that they had presented the magistrates with a difficult problem, and added.

"You are all young and you have been living very free and careless lives, with no thought of the morrow. You just exist from day to day, without a thought for the people around you, or for your own future.

"It is now time you woke up and faced the future, otherwise you will get into very serious trouble. You simply will not be allowed to go on living in this way, at any rate in Birmingham."

I.N.T.U.C. CHALLENGE TO SOCIALISTS

Redeem Your Pledges

BOMBAY, Sunday.

A challenge to the Socialists to put into practice in the Parle-Andheri Municipality, where they were in power, what they expected the Congress Party to do for the Municipal employees of Bombay, was thrown out by Mr. Abidali Jafferbhoy today.

Mr. Abidali was addressing the annual general meeting of the Bombay Branch of the Indian National Trade Union Congress after his unanimous re-election as President of that body at the Mazdoor Manzil, Parel. He said as a matter of fact both the Socialists and the Communists, in seeking to gain power were holding out promises to the workers which they may not be able to fulfill. He warned the workers to take those promises with a pinch of salt.

The meeting elected Mr. Purshottam Thakkar as the General Secretary of the Bombay Branch of the I.N.T.U.C. Besides four Vice-Presidents, two Secretaries and a Working Committee with 16 members, were also elected at the meeting.

'My Crime Has Been To Contradict De Mello And Not To Have Salaamed Him'

AMARNATH CATEGORICALLY DENIES "NATIONAL HERALD" INTERVIEW

Bengal Did What De Mello Tried And Failed And Reimbursed Lala For Refusing League Offer

CALCUTTA, June 5 (A.P.I.).

LALA AMARNATH, former India cricket captain, replied this evening in a 27,000-word statement to the charges listed against him by the Board of Control for Cricket in India. According to the Board these charges formed the basis of its decision suspending Lala Amarnath from playing representative cricket for India or for any Province.

The statement was presented at a press conference to which fourteen Sports Editors of Calcutta had invited Lala Amarnath recently. They have also extended a similar invitation to Mr. A. S. De Mello, President of the Board, to hold a press conference in Calcutta.

Lala Amarnath said that prior to the decision of the Board imposing the ban on him, he did not have any opportunity of meeting "any of the so-called charges. In fact, no charge of any kind whatsoever was ever framed against me".

LALA NOT INVITED

He added that Mr. De Mello's statement on the charges did not invite him to reply to them. "It looks that the decision is final and that the Board, which really means Mr. De Mello, in this case, will not rescind or revoke the decision, nor make amends for the grave and great injustice that has been done to me and to the interest of sport in general".

Lala Amarnath said that it was quite clear that the charges were a mere after-thought. He said that the decision was reached on April 10, but charge No. sixteen, about his accepting a purse in Calcutta, referred to a letter dated April 12. Lala Amarnath also said that in October, 1948, the Board had passed a resolution that all cases of indiscipline should in future be considered by an independent committee appointed by the Board. He asked why this resolution had not been given effect to in his case.

The former India captain said that broadly, three charges accused him of "threateningly" requesting and demanding "additional bonus" for his team and for himself. A Test player at the outset was being granted rupees five per day for out-of-pocket expenses, said Lala Amarnath, and "the crime I committed was to request Rs. 150 for each Test player for eight days stay at Test centres in these days of absurdly high prices". These requests were made in the manner of one making a legitimate request, and the allegation that he used threat was totally false. Mr. De Mello himself had sanctioned everything as being fair and reasonable.

Captain Amarnath said that the allegation that he derived monetary gain from an Ahmedabad match was utterly untrue and quoted a statement of Mr. Nansha Thakore, Joint Secretary of the Gujerat Cricket Association in support.

CALCUTTA "PURSE"

One charge against Lala Amarnath was that he "accepted a large purse in Calcutta without intimating to and the permission of the board".

Lala Amarnath stated in reply that he received a purse of Rs. 5,000/- sponsored by Mr. A. N. Ghose, Honorary Secretary of the Cricket Association of Bengal, at an informal function in Calcutta. He denied the implied charge that there was anything in the rules of the Board by which anyone receiving a purse had to give prior intimation and obtain prior permission of the Board. On the other hand there were precedents when Indian players received purses in the past without any intimation to and permission of the Board. There was also no uniform international practice.

Giving the background of this presentation, Lala Amarnath said that Mr. De Mello issued a public appeal and Board appeals and private appeals for a target of Rs. 30,000 for him (Lala Amarnath) when in 1947, in the interest of Indian cricket, he decided to cancel his professional Lancashire League contracts and prospects of qualifying for Sussex as a professional. The Board, on Mr. De Mello's initiative, had decided to try and help him by reimbursing him partially. Mr De Mello tried to raise the fund for him, but failed. Bengal, however, raised Rs. 5,000 and paid the sum to his wife at an informal function after the Third Test in Calcutta at the residence and in the presence of Mr. J. C. Mukerjee, President of the Cricket Control Board. Lala Amarnath himself was taken by surprise at the presentation.

NEVER GAVE LUCKNOW INTERVIEW

This he said was in partial fulfilment of the longstanding promise made by Bengal and as far ago as March 2, 1947, Mr. De Mello was fully conversant with the background of the presentation of Rs. 5,000. In regard to other charges, Lala Amarnath said that he denied categorically that he gave any interview to a Lucknow paper or authorised anybody to publish any story quoting him. He held documentary proof of this. He also said that he never charged the Board with power politics; and that he did not say that he would "make an open exposure of many controversial matters in Indian Cricket."

DENIES RUDE BEHAVIOUR

One variety of charges against him, Lala Amarnath said related to what what described as his "arrogant and rude behaviour to Mr. De Mello". He absolutely denied these charges and asked the public to judge whether he "had committed any crime in a democratic institution by refusing to accept Mr. De Mello's obvious presumption, 'I am the board'".

In regard to the Umpire Naik incident in Delhi which was the subject matter of a charge, Lala Amarnath said that Mr. De Mello himself had told him it was all right, but he (Amarnath) was conscious that however minor the incident, he had to make amends to Umpire Naik. At the end of the Second Test in Bombay he made it up with Umpire Naik and he thought the matter was closed to the satisfaction of Umpire Naik.

Referring to charges that he had neglected his duty as captain, Lala Amarnath said that there were unavoidable delays of a few hours, or at the most a day, in reaching Test centres on one or two occasions. At one time he had to deny himself the pleasure of attending social functions having been advised rest medically.

TO COLLECT TEAM IS MANAGER'S WORK

The Board had charged Lala Amarnath with deliberate carelessness in not collecting his team at two functions with which the Governor of Bombay was very prominently associated. Lala Amarnath in his reply said that he was unable to accept that it was the duty of the Captain to collect the teams for parties and receptions. According to international practice it was the duty of the team managers. In regard to a reception by the progressive group presided over by H. E. the Governor of Bombay, he as Captain had not been consulted before accepting the engagement, and no official invitation ever reached him. Quite apart from this, he was confined to his room at the time according to medical advice, over his foot injury, and it was physically impossible for him to attend the party, far less collect the team. About the other function, a party by H. E. the Governor of Bombay, he was asked to go to Government House with the team, which he did.

Before the Second Test match in Bombay, he was running several miles every morning to keep himself fit. He was always trying to do his best, whatever his success or lack of it, in the Tests, and could do no better. One or two occasions when he unfortunately missed net practice with his team, which he could not help, he had made advance arrangements that the team would not be deprived of organised net practice. About his alleged inability or unwillingness to meet social commitments, he could only say that if the Australian Tour was a success, it was, first and foremost, a social success. He could point out that English and West Indies Captains were not present at many official social functions, but none ever framed charges against them.

LALA WAS FIT FOR 2ND TEST

In regard to the charge that he did not inform the President of the severe accident to his foot at Poona which rendered him "definitely unfit to play in the Second Test match", Lala Amarnath said that he strongly refused to accept Mr. De Mello's "presumption" that if he had an accident he must necessarily inform the President. He had informed Board officials, including the Honorary Secretary. As to his being unfit to play in the Second Test match, he said that the attendant doctors' advice was not against playing. He was also certain that he was fit enough to stand the strain. He referred to his record in the match in support.

Among other charges and replies were:

CHARGE: Last minute decisions by Amarnath not to captain and play for the States Eleven at Baroda and against North Zone in the Zonal Tournament.

Reply: The decision not to captain and play for the States Eleven at Baroda was not a last minute one. It also did not rest with him but with his employer, the Maharaja of Patiala. It was conveyed full eight days before the match in a telegram by the Military Secretary to His Highness, who regretted inability to spare Amarnath owing to trial matches at Patiala. In regard to the North Zone match also it was not a last minute decision but he had informed the Selection Committee seven days before the match. This was due to the state of health of his wife.

Charge: Insulting disregard of the Board by not replying to two letters of 8th January and 21st February, 1949.

Reply: Letter of 8th January was replied to on 14th January and letter of 21st February, on 7th April. Delay in replying to the latter letter was owing to various pre-occupations after the considerable time he had had to devote to cricket for three months. His foot also had had to be operated at Kanpur.

Charge: "You spoke disparagingly to all and sundry about what transpired in the Selection Committee, thus depriving India of the best efforts of selected players".

Reply: It is absolutely untrue that I spoke to anyone about what transpired in the Selection Committee.

Concluding, Lala Amarnath said: "My crime has been to contradict the views of Mr. De Mello and not to have "salaamed" him. I have been charged and have been convicted without being served with a charge sheet and without hearing".

Replying to a question, Lala Amarnath said that he was not sending his reply to the Board of Control because Mr. De Mello did not give him any chance or opportunity to reply officially to the Board. He was vitally concerned to clear himself of the stigma in the public eye and he still honestly believed that if they gave the verdict of "not guilty" the Voice of India would reinstate him in his former position.

Amarnath added that if after the publication of his reply, the press and the public felt that he was innocent and had been the victim of certain happenings, and if the Board on their own initiative did not put matters right, he would have to take the counsel of legal friends. He was hopeful, however, that such a situation would not arise.

KRAMER WINS INDOOR TITLE

Beats Riggs 3—1 In World Professional Tennis

LONDON, June 4:

Jack Kramer, of the United States, beat his compatriot Bobby Riggs 2:6, 6:4, 6:3, 6-4 in the final of the worlds indoor professional lawn tennis championship at Wembley tonight.

It was a desultory and sometimes lifeless match.

The first set, played before an almost silent crowd, went quickly to Riggs. He appeared tired, however, and as the match progressed Kramer improved and increased the pace to make the next two sets.

The crucial game was the seventh in the fourth set. With the score at three all, Riggs failed to hold his service after four deuces and Kramer had achieved the all important break through with his service to follow. He required only to hold his service and this he did to win with comparative ease.

TATAS & ST. FRANCIS GOANS SHARE POINTS

First Division Game Drawn

BOMBAY, Sunday.

Tata Sports and St. Francis Goans shared points in this evenings First Division, Harwood League tie. The game was interesting and by far the best so far witnessed at the popular venue—the Cooperage. A goalless draw was the correct indication to a hard fought encounter.

For Tata's Joveano strengthened their ranks, but was a poor substitute for Basil Menezes. Joveano is not his old self rather scared to face a defence that tackles first time. D'Costa in goal was brilliant and kept a clean sheet. For St. Francis Goan's Christopher, saved his side with an exhilarating display under the bar. Reg Rodrigues was a pillar of strength in his first outing and St. Anne and he made the defence difficult to penetrate. In the intermediate line Agre and S. D'Costa shone, while A. D'Sa outshone them.

Both goals had narrow escapes, Tata's wasted a penalty kick in the second half. Peter Ferrao failing to beat Christopher, the end saw both sides goals having narrow escapes even though the goalkeepers were beaten. The drawn game correctly indicated the run of play.

PROHIBITION AND PERMISSION

For some time past, the opponents of Prohibition have changed their tactics and launched an indirect attack on the reform. Defeated on the main issue, they have tried to crack the Prohibition front by playing on the need for foreign exchange. And, since a recognition of facts as they are is essential for successful waging of the war for Prohibition, it must be conceded that they seem to have succeeded on this minor skirmish. The Madras Government has relaxed its Prohibition policy for "attracting non-provincial tourists to the N. girls". The Bombay Government has followed suit with a more limited surrender to foreign tourists. These are ominous concessions and unless they are objected to in time they will eat into the entire programme and sabotage the reform. The fault for the reverse is largely with the Prohibitionists who have been very inactive in doing propaganda for the cause, and have generally taken it as an accepted fact. The Congress Party too has a special responsibility in the reform as it has been the main plank of the party for several years. It is necessary that the forces of progress should rally round now at least and carry on incessant propaganda. There is another kind of insidious eating into Prohibition which has also manifested itself: This is to distort statements and facts to show that the men behind the policy are disillusioned and fed up, and have admitted failure. This need not be taken very seriously because Prohibition cannot fail. There might be weaknesses which can be corrected and defects which can be remedied but those who count on its collapse are dwelling in a fool's paradise.

For some time now, the opponents of Prohibition have been trying to be plausible by arguing that India needs foreign exchange, that foreign tourists are an easy way of securing this, and that foreign tourists need liquor. Therefore, Prohibition, however estimable in itself, cannot be indulged in at just this moment. Later, perhaps—and the later it is, the better these champions of India's economic stability will like it. It is argued that the foreign visitor to India must not be prevented from getting what he is accustomed to. Thus the "Sunday News" observes, "It is idle to expect foreigners on holiday to deny themselves their accustomed amenities of life, either in the matter of food or drink and conform to any mode of living alien to them". This is very strange indeed, and, if it had not been pointed out in this forceful way, we should never have thought of it. Just fancy, the foreigner—presumably from the U.S.A., the only country in the world which can afford the luuxury of foreign travel on an appreciable scale—will cheerfully put up with the lack of modern sanitation outside the few big cities, will bear uncomplainingly the ordeals of coping with less developed service and more inefficiency and delay, but, when he or she is met with absence of liquor, will throw away his guide-book and his reservation and decide to sit at home. If we should follow the argument to its logical conclusion, then we might as well become a little U.S.A. in ourselves (so long as the tourists are drawn from that country) in order that our American friends might feel completely at home when they are out of their country. We would not be surprised if the Committee set up to advise the Transport Minister at Delhi on attracting tourists from abroad actually pleaded for dropping Prohibition altogether on the ground that the foreign tourist is not satisfied when he drinks alone but like to booze along with a large number of acquaintances, preferably natives of the country he visits; that it is very difficult to imbibe the tourist's liquor—almost impossible when it is done surreptitiously and against the law—and acquire a name for hospitality without returning drinks, and that, as foreigners seeking "amenities they are accustomed to", they will naturally search out the company of men like them who are foreign-minded and who also might be left to stew in their own booze. Some such special pleading has shaken the Government of India and has evidently communicated some nervousness to the two provinces which had launched on a bold unequivocal policy of total Prohibition. And the result is that there has been a lapse from Total Prohibitnon to Partial Permission. Bombay is one degree better than Madras in that it has not relaxed its Prohibition laws for hill-station tourists of Indian nationality whereas Madras has for all Indians from provinces other than Madras. But it is only one degree better, let it be remembered.

It is worth looking into the arguments which are put forward by Prohibition opponents on behalf of foreign visitors. It is not contended that in order to encourage foreign traffic we should allow a free flow of consumer goods which, we are all agreed must be rigorously restricted. And, if one might encroach on the sacred privilege of the Prohibition opponents to interpret the mind of the Foreign Tourist, there are consumer goods which the tourist values as "necessities of life". In the American context, we might say, from tooth-paste to breakfast foods, there is a wide range of consumer goods that will have to flood the country to keep the foreign tourist happy and anxious to come again. Yet no one thinks seriously of demanding extensive distribution of import licences and the Government is strongly condemned in all quarters when it ventures on any expansion. What is the magic of alcohol which turns a consumer goods into something indispensable, essential and absolutely unbannable? Yet this is exactly what we are asked to believe. Moreover, it would be interesting to learn from someone how far Indians going to other countries are accomodated by the Governments and peoples there and given what they are accustomed to. Why should it be that whether we go abroad or others come to our country, it is we who are being obliged? And, even if it were so, is it profitable to adopt an attitude of abject seeking of favours? To a large extent, it would be fair to say that much of the opposition to the Prohibition policy of the Government comes from those who have adapted themselves remarkably to Western habits and Western customs during a few years' stay in Europe. And they are evidently incapable of seeing that there is no need for a whole nation consisting of mostly stay-at-homes to frame policies and programmes to make themselves respectable in the eyes of the foreigner. This is not said in any disparaging sense but purely by way of explanation of the mind behind the opposition. Otherwise, it is difficult to understand why a very vocal section of the very educated should seriously believe that Prohibition will frighten away foreign tourists—particularly American tourists who have themselves seen in this generation an experiment in the same direction in their country and might be expected to show a certain sympathetic interest in the Indian attempt. No foreign visitor is likely except for an occasional lark to indulge in country liquor. Therefore, the money he spends on this commodity whilst visiting will be only on the charges for handling the goods; in other words, imports have to keep high as well. But anything else the foreigner buys abroad is always some indigenous product by way of souvenir or memento. On a smaller scale, it is a repetition of the old fallacy that more liquor consumption in the country will mean more money in the exchequer and more prosperity to the country. It will be a strange irony if Indian national leaders who have refused to be fooled by the "prosperity through drink" plea, should succumb to the bait of "foreign exchange through foreign drink".

It is reported that Dr. B. R Ambedkar has resigned from the Presidentship of the Municipal Kamgar Sangh of Bombay, which is responsible for the present three week old strike.

We should have naturally recommended Mr. Naushir Barucha to fill the vacancy. But unfortunately he seems already to have begun weakening.

The identity of the Vice-President of the International Court of Justice, who recently acted in his "private capacity", has been revealed. He is Dr. Jose Guerrero of somewherrero in Latin America. But as to his action, a high legal official of the United Nations has, according to Lake Success, stated that Dr Guerrero was entirely within his rights in sending two "neutral" observers to Pondicherry at the request of the French Government.

Shall we be within our rights if we appoint in our "private capacity", two "neutral" psychiatric observers each to report on Dr. Jose Guerrero and the Lake Success high legal official?

And the high legal official of the United Nations also added that neither the U.N. nor the International Court of Justice has anything to do with these proceedings.

Yes, please see above.

Says the President of the French India National Congress: "The French authorities, in order to delay as far as possible their withdrawal from India and being short of any other pretext, want to continue their rule by intrigues. The French Government have been ruling over these settlements for nearly 200 years and still are unable to know the sentiment of the people".

That is why they have no knowledge and have also lost their sense and imagination.

Apropos of the rumour about a deadlock, U.N. Commission circles declare that no situation has arisen to necessitate reference of the Kashmir issue back to the Security Council.

This is what we expected, having always known that the Commission was determined itself to handle and dispose of the issue impartially and without any unpleasant surprises—as per Mr. Erik Colban's assurance—for India or Pakistan Shaikh Abdullah or Sardar Ibrahim.

Then it must have been the Palace groaning to its very foundations under the weight of the Caudillo.

PAK PROPAGANDA TO WIN OVER KASHMIR

Frequent Meetings Being Held

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT)

KARACHI, (By Air Mail).

VIGOROUS propaganda to win over Kashmir for Pakistan has been going on for some time in almost all parts of the Pakistan Dominion and more particularly in the area adjoining the State's boundaries.

This propaganda machinery has been speeded up in important cities all over Western Pakistan in order to create a favourable opinion amongst the masses. Meetings are being held frequently and are addressed by leaders—small and big.

At one of such meetings held in the Dominion capital, Miss Fatima Jinnah, associated the name of late Quaid-i-Azam saying that the last words on Mr. Jinnah's lips prior to his death were that 'Kashmir must be ceded to Pakistan'.

With a view to getting their votes recorded at the time of Kashmir plebiscite, Karachi branch of all-Jammu and Kashmir Conference has appealed to all the original residents of this State to register themselves with the Association.

Similar appeals, it is learnt, have been issued by other branches of the Association also all over Pakistan.

AGAINST FAQIR OF IPI

Much propaganda is being carried on in the Pakistan press against the Faqir of Ipi and his accomplices.

Followed by the recent report that the Faqir was lying seriously ill, it is now said that great dissatisfaction is prevailing amongst Ipi's followers on account of acute shortage of food. Since Ipi has failed to procure sufficient foodstuffs for his followers, they have threatened desertion.

ABOLITION OF ZAMINDARI

Speaking at a public meeting held in Hyderabad (Sind) under the auspices of the City Muslim League, Mr. Yusuf Haroon, Premier of Sind, declared that his Government had decided to end the zamindari and zagirdari systems in Sind soon.

Mr. Haroon further said that the land coming into the hands of the Government by such a measure will be used for the betterment of the masses, who are mostly haris (kisans). Refugees, who have settled down in Sind will have the same rights as the original residents and will also be given the right of vote.

DELHI GOONDA APPREHENDED

Local Police came into possession of a large number of stolen articles as well as some arms and ammunition when they were able to apprehend after a search of months, the well-known Delhi goonda Haji Abdul Sattar.

It is said that since the establishment of Pakistan, Satar shifted his activities to Karachi and was wanted by the Police in a number of theft, robbery and like cases since some months and all efforts to trace him were futile till now.

COAL SUPPLIES

Since India had failed to supply necessary stocks of coal to Pakistan, according to a spokesman of the Commerce Ministry, the Government of Pakistan has decided to import coal from other foreign countries.

Arrangements are being made to import large supplies of coal from Belgium, which has already offered to supply three lakh tons of this commodity to Pakistan. Besides, Poland, has already supplied about 9,000 tons and more supplies from this country are also expected soon.

DEPRIVED OF LAND

During the past fortnight, about a score of instances have come to light wherein Hindu zamindars have been forcibly deprived of their lands which have in all cases been allotted to the Muslim refugees. The zamindars so deprived of their lands lately are Mukhi Mangalmal, Seth Sadhusing, Seth Sobhansing and Seth Pribhdas of Larkana, Mukhi Mahromal of Badah, Seth Naraindas Motiram and Sugnomal Chetandas of Nasirabad, Seth Awatrai Nichomal of Vagan, Topandas and Tahiram of Shikarpur, Seth Harbuxrai of Dokri, Seth Samaldas Janjimal of Shahdadkot, Tanwermal Lilaram of Radhan, Premchand of Ratodero and Thadomal Tirathdas, Awatmal Begumal, Sugnomal Jeoomal, Rughoomal and Dharmomal of Sukkur.

In some of these cases, the lands have been taken possession of even with the crops standing and the Hindu zamindars have been forbidden and deprived of harvesting these crops.

Besides houses, shops and agricultural lands, the allotment of factories is being done. Latest instances in this connection are of the rice mill of Seth Ram Rakhiomal of Lukman and the famous silk weaving factory of Seth Chandandas of Nizamani, both villages in the Khairpur State.

The Mukhtiarkar of Pano Akil has even gone a step further and served notices on the Hindu residents to hand him over their houses which, he said, he would be requiring to house the incoming 500 refugees.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

Women Home Guards

The Ladies Section of the Home Guards, which the Bombay Government has just started, will, we earnestly hope, be soon an unqualified success. It will be remembered that during the Congress struggle for Independence women all over the country gave an excellent account of themselves. The Desh Sevikas and other women's volunteer corps were particularly useful in enforcing prohibition and the boycott of foreign goods. And numerous women volunteers are still devoting themselves to arduous village uplift work under the Kasturba Memorial Organisation. Women Home Guards can serve the country in a variety of ways, and we are told that full information about the Ladies Section can be obtained from Mrs. Sofia Khan (Officer in Charge) at the Headquarters from 3-30 to 4-30 p.m. during working days. We do not see why some important particulars about the Section should not be published straightway. The necessary information may also be made available at the Bombay Provincial Congress Committee's Office, where many women volunteers gather frequently for drill etc.

French Government's Manoeuvres

The French Government insist, in the matter of the forthcoming "referendum" in French India, on their sovereignty, in which they would allow no interference. It is unfortunate that France should lack the sense the democratic sense, to realise that the kind of colonial "sovereignty" to which it seeks to cling has now lost both its meaning and its relevancy. Indeed it has become an absurdity definitely dangerous to colonial masters themselves. Apart from that too, the manoeuvres of the French Government on the eve of the "referendum" further condemn as a farce this alleged reference to the people. One of these manoeuvres is what the Government of India rightly describes as the "unilateral" action of the Government of France in securing "observers." The manner in which they have been secured is interesting. A vice-President of the International Court of Justice was unofficially approached and he has obliged in his "private capacity." Why this surreptitious approach? The object seems to be obvious. This sneak appointment would later be exploited as invested with International impartiality and significance. We are, therefore glad it has been questioned and exposed.

Outrageous Abuse Of Status

What surprises us, however, is not the manoeuvre of the French Government but the prompt response of Dr Jose Guerreo, the vice-President concerned, and the unequivocal attitude of Lake Success. It is impossible to understand Dr. Guerrero's gratuitous assumption, in his private capacity, of an official status involving the International Court of Justice, which has nothing to do with it all and has had no official cognisance of it. As Lake Success itself has authoritatively declared, neither the United Nations nor the International Court of Justice has anything to do with these proceedings and neither will be bound by it. But, very surprisingly, a high legal official of the U. N. insists that Dr. Guerrero, acting on his "private initiative" and "on the basis of his reputation as an eminent jurist", was within his rights in appointing two "neutral" observers at the request of the French Government. The absurdity of this defence is so obvious that one is amazed at a "high legal official" offering it with such bland innocence. It is nonsense to suggest—and that is what the defence would amount to—that the French Government having decided to secure the services of two "neutral" observers, proceeded to consult an international directory of "eminent jurists", fixed upon an eminent jurist, Dr. Jose Guerrero, and telephoned to him in his private capacity to supply them with two "neutral" observers. In this matter, whatever the private capacity and eminence of Dr. Jose Guerrero may be, his status is derived from his position as vice-President of the International Court of Justice. This position he has abused in a manner outrageously unworthy of a judge of the International Court of Justice and scandalously unfair to that eminent body.

S. S. C. Examination

Of the 50,386 candidates that appeared for the last S.S.C. examination 23,288 are declared to have passed the examination, and we are told that, while preparing the result, consideration has been shown to the candidates at certain centres "who had to write their answers under difficult conditions." Considering the leakage of question papers at certain places, the results cannot be said to be as accurate as one could have expected. Apart from this, the percentage of passes may be said to be fairly normal. Of the 23,000 and odd students that are successful only a few can proceed to college and fewer still will graduate, many dropping out during the college course for want of means or aptitude. These and the unsuccessful candidates seek service wherever they hope to get any. But it is generally admitted that so far the usual S.L.C. or the matriculation examination, whatever its merits, is ill fitted to prepare students for professional service. It is for this reason that Government has devised the new S.S.C. examination which provides a large number of professional subjects and has taken over the whole examination under its control. But a mere change in the examination and its control will not induce any considerable number of students to choose the optional professional courses that have just been included in the examination. There should be enough schools providing instruction therein. And Government should take the lead in starting such schools.

Foreign Trade Policy

As Government, the industrialists and the public all agree that, in view of our growing adverse trade balance, it is necessary to check imports and stimulate exports, it was easy for Government, after consulting the Export Advisory Council and the Import Advisory Council to come to some fair agreement about at least the general principles regulating foreign trade. The general principle is that the whole trade policy should be formulated first by one advisory body before final decisions are taken by Government. Accordingly Government has set up a joint committee of Export and Import Advisory Councils by taking four members from each of them. Such a committee is naturally better fitted to co-relate export and import policies. It is also agreed that the foreign trade policy and exchange control should be so regulated as to afford reasonable protection to indigenous industries. But in doing this Government should see to it that the industrialists protected transfer a reasonable proportion of the protection to the workers by so improving their working conditions as to enable them to produce more. Industrialists should realise that protection at the expense of the millions of consumers cannot be continued indefinitely and that as early as possible our industries should be able to face world competition without any external aid.

OUR READERS' VIEWS

Maddening Nuisance

Even a small city like Surat has banned the use of radios, loudspeakers, gramophones, etc. by shopkeepers from 11 noon to 5 p.m. and from 10 p.m. in the night to 8 a.m. in the morning. It is, therefore, the more surprising that in a big city like Bombay, where this sort of nuisance has assumed fantastic and maddening proportions owing to refugee trade competition, our authorities are doing nothing to prevent this nerve-wrecking torture by thoughtless shopkeepers. It is no "music" to hear the same half a dozen records in strict rotation from early morning to late in the night and the same thing over and over again week after week and month after month. May I, therefore, most humbly request the Commissioner of Police to issue a similar order as in Surat—or better still ban completely the use of radios, gramaphones, etc. by shopkeepers—and thus give the much needed relief to the residents of the neighbourhood. This sort of nuisance is maddening enough to a normal human being—it is a torture of the worse type to the sick and old.

I remember that a few years back an Anti-Noise League was formed in Bombay to advise and co-operate with the authorities to minimise all noise nuisance in the city. It is high time that such an Association should be revived in the city.

Train Fire Fighters

In India conditions naturally favour spontaneous ignition of inflammable material during hot summer. Apart from the big cities of Bombay and Calcutta the fire-fighting services are inadequate and ill-equipped.

With the development of Industries using cotton, inflammable chemicals and celluloid the risk of fire has grown. Many fires result in grave loss to industry and to the public. There have been innumerable fires of late causing much damage which might have been minimised if not altogether eliminated by precautions being taken by the persons concerned.

The fire brigade of Bombay is probably the best trained and comparatively well-equipped unit in India. But still either on account of the area of their operations or on account of the highly combustible nature of the substances which have caught fire the fire brigade has been unable to prevent complete damage.

In Ahmedabad owing to the lack of gas masks a cotton godown had to be allowed to be burnt out. In Calcutta because of the inadequacy of the number of fire engines and also because of the combustible nature of the timber, most of it being dry, crores of rupees worth of timber was burnt.

When this is the case in such cities like Bombay, Calcutta and Ahmedabad one could easily imagine the plight of small towns and villages. We must now develop a large fire-fighting force to see that much avoidable damage is prevented and fires are brought under control before too much damage is done.

While the Insurance Associations of Bombay and Calcutta have laid down certain conditions and insist upon the insured taking certain precautions there are no hard and fast rules governing the upcountry towns and the villages.

In Bombay and Calcutta even now most of the industrial concerns are not paying as much attention as is necessary in giving proper training to their staff in the prevention and fighting of fires. They seem to be satisfied with exhibition of a few fire-extinguishers on the racks on the wall and a few lengths of canvas hose pipes in glass cupboards. None of their employees know how to use the extinguishers and where the fire-hydrant is and in case of a fire the only thing they do is to call for the fire-brigade and look on helplessly.

So it is necessary that every industrial and commercial concern and large Government offices give some training, as they were doing during the war, to their staff so that the damage by fire could be minimised.

The indiscriminate storing of celluloid in residential localities, the storage of petrol in garages without proper safeguards, the making of crackers without precautions all have caused fires and loss of life. It is time that the authorities insist on greater precautions by preventing the storage of petrol and celluloid in residential localities and the prohibiting of the manufacture of crackers in place which manufacture of crackers in places which are likely to catch fire easily.

Large industrial concerns like mills, foundries, workshops and oil and soap factories would do well to install the latest types of carbon-di-oxide fire fighting pumping sets with the use of automatic gas outlets which let the gas come out in case of fires owing to the rise in the temperature automatically, like the sprinklers.

Sprayers of foam, like extinguishers are a great aid in preventing the spread of fires. The men on the spot must learn to use it. The Fire Brigade must hold public demonstrations at suitable places so that the public become aware of the modern methods of life-saving and fire fighting.

Will the Municipalities and the Government and Insurance Companies start a training school for the purpose of training men in fire-fighting?

Stranded At Goa

This year, due to the early arrival of the monsoon, the steamer service operating on the Konkan Coast was disorganised from the 10th May and discontinued from the 25th with the result that passengers on the coast-line between Bombay and Goa, intending to return to Bombay have been held up. According to an estimate, the number of such persons is nearly twenty thousand. The monsoon facilities as at present existing are passenger motor buses which bring a few dozen passengers to Bombay every day and some buses plying through the Ghats possessing a meagre capacity that feed the M.S.M. Railway. Under these circumstances, the lot of stranded passengers can be better imagined than described.

Through the valued columns of your paper I appeal to the Government of Bombay to liberalise the petrol supply to the bus operators at least for a few months so that it may be possible for them to run more buses. The State Transport Department should do well to spare a few buses to ply in this region so as to alleviate the hardships to some extent. It is hoped that the Home Minister Hon. Morarji Desai will pay attention to this urgent problem.

OPEN AIR

The orchids on the mango trees are now in flower. Actually from a spectacular point of view the flowers are disappointing, for they are small and insignificant, but when we look into them we find they are much more interesting than they appear from the distance. They grow in small clusters on stout stalks arising from the axils of the long, channelled leaves. Each individual flower is made up of six perianth parts, five of which are alike, being yellow in colour with transverse stripes of deep purple. The sixth is pure white with just a shading of purple. This odd petal, together with the heavy, rather sickly scent, serves to attract insects into the heart of the flower to pollinate it. These orchids, although they live on the branches of trees, are not parasites, for they do not derive their food from the tissues of the tree. Instead they send down long roots through which they take in food from the air, and they are therefore known as epiphytes. Their fleshy leaves serve as store houses of food, so that the plants are able to remain alive during the long months of hot dry weather.

CUTTING DOWN NOISE IN MADRAS

Minister Reddy Impressed By London's Transport

LONDON, June 4, (PTI-Reuter): Mr. H. Sitarama Reddy, Minister for Industries and Labour in the Government of Madras, flies home tomorrow with ideas for cutting the cost and eliminating noise and nuisance in the public transport systems of Indian cities.

Like other recent visitors from India, Mr. Reddy has been much impressed by the relative quietness of the London traffic.

He told the Press Trust of India today: "I have not heard a horn sounded once since I arrived here on June 1. Compared with London, two other modern European cities, Paris and Brussels, are very noisy, yet they are quiet compared with Madras.

"Lord Latham Chairman of the London Transport Board, told me that the noise of bus engines and the smell of the exhaust gases had been reduced by 80 per cent.

WHY THEY LOOK SO NEW

He discovered also why London's buses always look so new. Every two years, on an average, each bus is automatically returned to the works, where it is completely taken to pieces, cleaned and rebuilt, with new springs bolts and other parts substituted where required.

Mr. Reddy will break his homeward journey in Switzerland. He leaves Geneva by air for India on June 9.

CENTRE OF GRAVITY SHIFTS TO ASIA

B.B.C. "Friday Forum" Discussions

LONDON, June 4 (PTI-Reuter): Mr. L. D. Gammans, Conservative member of Parliament, speaking last night in "Friday Forum" of the B.B.C. Home Service, said that the centre of gravity—in both senses of the word—had shifted to Asia after the check in Europe, which Communism had received.

He was discussing the situation in Malaya with Mr. Woodrow Wyatt, Labour member of Parliament, in the programme. Both have recently returned from a few weeks' visit to Malaya. He said that "Stalin had remembered Lenin's advice that the quickest way to Paris was via Peking and Calcutta. If Communism swallows the whole of Asia nothing can save Australia and I doubt whether in the long run anything could save Europe then."

Mr. Gammans suggested that strength could stop Communism in Asia while Mr. Wyatt insisted that to give economic help was the first and foremost task not only of Britain but of the whole of Western Europe which should make a "joint effort" in this direction.

Mr. Gammans referred to the "tottering' Burmese Government, and compared it with that of Chiang-Kai-Sheik Mr. Wyatt replied that the Government of Burma was composed of sincere and able young men who were very deeply concerned about the welfare of their country. He advocated help also in view of the danger of Communism in Burma. "Once active Communism gets control of Burma you will find it very difficult to maintain the Commonwealth in that part of the world," he said

WHAT DUTCH SHOULD DO

Turning to the problem of Indonesia, Mr. Wyatt suggested the Dutch should try and come to terms with the Republicans as soon as they could, so that they could get that very considerable share of the Government to which they were entitled. Mr. Wyatt contended that if the West wanted to continue to have a place in South-East Asia it had to show it was on an entirely different footing than 20 and 30 years ago.

"The West must cease to dominate in South-East Asia but be there as a friend and partner."

.. My Wyatt said that the Chinese Communists' attitude towards the Western Powers after occupation of the whole country would be of considerable influence on the overseas Chinese scattered about in South-East Asia.

"It is important for us to try to establish friendly relations with this Communist Government in China and particularly to try to stop it from being a faithful henchman of Moscow and rather swing it over to our side."

He was, therefore, against a policy of "threatening gestures" against this Government although he agreed with Mr. Gammans that Hong Kong must be held.

REFERENDUM DATE NOT TO BE ALTERED

Chandernagore Municipal Assembly's Reply

CHANDERNAGORE, June 5. (A. P. I.)

THE Chandernagore Municipal Assembly, at a meeting last night, resolved that its decision that the referendum on the future of the city should be held on June 19, was irrevocable.

The issue was raised before the House by the message of the President of the French National Assembly, suggesting that the Chandernagore Municipal Assembly should defer the referendum from June 19 to December 11, the date fixed for plebiscites in other French settlements in India.

The meeting of the Municipal Assembly was described as informal. The President explained that formal meetings required the prior permission of the French authorities at Pondicherry.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION

The following is the text of the resolution adopted by the Assembly: "The French Union has tried its best to defer the date of the Chandernagore referendum and M. Maurice Gaudart, a member of the Council of the French Union, has conveyed the wish of the French Union Assembly to defer the date and fix it for December 11. But as the French Government, notwithstanding the unanimous verdict of the Municipal Assembly to effect the change over with a referendum, has forced the referendum issue on the Municipal Assembly, the members of the Assembly do not agree to change the date at this stage, and our decision for June 19 is irrevocable."

consider as constituting "fair wages", the members are said to have elaborated in detail the principles that govern the four main points of consideration.

FAIR WAGES

As regards the prevailing rates of wages, which it is maintained are correlated to the capacity of the industry to pay, the consensus of opinion appears to be that the prevailing rates of wages, fixed as a result of proper collective bargaining or adjudication, bear a close approximation to "fair wages."

It is considered not so in the case of prevailing wages resulting from unequal bargaining, labour being too weak or unorganised.

The members have recommended that the basic wages should be fixed in respect of cost of living index number 160 to 175 treating the cost of living index number of 1939 as 100. For the lowest categories of wage earners, the target should be compensation to an extent of 100 percent increase, while for others the amount of compensation should be based on salary scales or slabs. The continuance of the present method of compensation by the grant of dearness allowance is also favoured.

NEW FIBRE THAT THREATENS TO COMPETE WITH JUTE

WASHINGTON, June 1.

Kenaf, a fibre crop new to the Western Hemisphere, is now being grown successfully in Cuba and El Salvador as a result of collaborative work between agricultural scientists of the United States and Latin American countries, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The new source of fibre promises to be of unusual value both commercially and strategically. It is an effective substitute for jute fibre, which normally is imported from India and Pakistan.

Jute, during recent years, has been in increasingly short supply because of conditions in the producing areas of India and Pakistan, a major one being that more of their land is going into food crops.

With the expected commercialization of kenaf, which is now in pilot plant production, several benefits will accrue to Western Hemisphere participants, according to the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, which has been active in the development. One benefit is the greater security from having a fibre source close at hand. Another would be reflected in the additional opportunities for income in the kenaf producing countries. Cuba, for example which uses around $20,000,000 worth of sugar bagging yearly, has found that the kenaf season dovetails nicely with the sugar season, giving new opportunities for employment during what otherwise would be slack periods.

ORIGINAL HOME IN INDIA

Kenaf is a fast-growing fibre crop whose original home is India. It was selected for Western Hemisphere introduction after many other fibre crops had been studied and tested. It has been found fully competitive to jute fibre in yield cost, and strength. Its seed yields an oil comparable to cotton seed oil. One commercial grower in Cuba harvested nearly 100 acres of kenaf in 1948 and sold the raw fibre to a manufacturer in the United States. Good markets are anticipated as the fibre gets into active production.

Botanically, kenaf is known as HIBISCUS CANNABINUS. It is distantly related to cotton and okra. Kenaf seed normally is planted thickly in rows about eight inches apart. The plants grow rapidly, reaching a height of eight to 12 feet in about 100 days when fibre harvest begins. The stalks are about one-half inch in diameter near the ground. The fibre is contained in the bark, as is also the case with jute. Kenaf fibre has been extracted successfully both by mechanical processes and by rotting the stalks in stagnant water for a few days. The fibre is obtained in strands nearly the full length of the stalks. It is soft in texture, of a light straw colour, and similar to jute fibre in strength. Yields in Cuba may be expected to be one ton of kenaf fibre per acre each year.

Kenaf bags have shown up favourably in competition with jute bags. When drop tests were made with competitive bags of similar weight fabric and loaded with raw sugar, the jute bags ruptured when dropped from a height of 11 feet to a hard floor, whereas the kenaf bags did not rupture when dropped repeatedly from a height of 15 feet.—USIS.

TRANSMISSION

The system of transmission is the prevalent Morse Code—the system of dots and dashes—suitably adopted to cope with the Devanagri transmission. About 110 combinations and three warning signals have been made which will include besides all the letters of Devanagri script, the half letters, "matras and bindus".

The charges of these telegrams will be the same as those in English.

For ordinary telegrams the Devanagari letter "ma" and for urgent telegrams "ja" will be used to indicate "Mamooli" and "jarrori".

Fifteen telegraphists have at present been trained in Devanagri transmission who will work at the four stations where the new system has been started. A school for training more telegraphists has been opened at Agra where a batch of fifteen is now undergoing training. The course of training at the school is for three months.

People Removed From Polish Ship

NEW YORK, June 4 (PTI-Reuter).—Armed immigration officers here tonight removed 110 people from the Polish liner "Batory"—the ship in which German-born Communist Gerhard Eisler escaped to Europe—and took them to Ellis Island for questioning.

One official said they were to be detained for lack of immigration bonds, for travelling on visitors' passports although not legitimate visitors, and for other causes.

The armed officers boarded the 14,287 ton ship as she arrived from Gdynia and Southampton, and refused to let anyone disembark. There were about 1,000 people aboard.

It was the ship's first visit to the United States since last month when Eisler stowed away in her and escaped.

In Washington, Justice Department officials indicated that all the "Batory's" crew would be questioned to determine if any of them aided Eisler, who reached Eastern Germany this week by way of Czechoslovakia after his seizure and release in Britain.

Providing Work For 24,000 Refugees

600 WORKSHEDS TO BE SET UP IN EAST PUNJAB

SIMLA, June 4 (API).

SIX HUNDRED work-sheds will be established in the East Punjab shortly, to provide employment for about 24,000 able-bodied refugees from Pakistan. These work-sheds, most of which will be built near the refugee camps, will start various industries and crafts. The scheme is estimated to cost Rs. 1,80,00,000.

The object of the scheme is to enable refugees to earn wages from the industries to be started and thus become self-supporting, instead of depending on free rations for themselves and families. It is estimated that there are about 80,000 refugees in the East Punjab who draw daily rations from Government camps.

CUT IN FREE RATIONS

When the work-sheds begin to operate in full swing, the Government will restrict the issue of free rations to sick persons in camp hospitals, the infirm and the aged and unattached children under 12 years.

The Government has decided to locate most of the work sheds at the new industrial towns of Faridabad, Bahadurgarth, Sonepat, Panipat and Jagadhari. Camps will be set up at these places to take a refugee population of about 48,000.

Industries and crafts proposed to be introduced at the refugees' work centres include: wood work, wood and iron toys, shoes and leather work, silver works, cutlery manufacture, weaving, spinning, hosiery, tailoring, laundrying, kitting, embroidery and stationery works.

She Both Loved And Feared A Man

LONDON, June 5.

During a tour of the countryside a 37-year-old woman was forced to aid in theft because of threats by a man whom she "loved and feared".

This was stated at Norwich Quarter Sessions when Ernest James Fielder, aged 45, and Cecilia Evans, appeared before the Recorder.

Fielder was sentenced to three years' imprisonment for stealing from Norwich shops two rings valued at £300. Fourteen other cases were taken into consideration.

The woman was bound over for two years. She was accused of aiding Fielder in the two Norwich thefts, and she asked for 10 other cases to be taken into account.

The prosecution said that for about four months the couple travelled round the country as man and wife. Their method was to enter a jeweller's shop as an engaged couple, ask to see some rings, and when the assistant's back was turned Fielder would take one from the tray.

PROPERTY WORTH £950 TAKEN

During their travels property valued at £950 was stolen from place including Cumberland, Kent, London and Monmouthshire.

Mr. R. Ives, for the woman, said she had been completely under the influence of Fielder who told the lower Court that she went round stealing wiwth him under severe threats of violence.

"She was both in love with Fielder and frightened of him at the same time. He was alternately good to her and unkind to her". said Mr. Ives.

Fielder, who had 25 convictions, told the Recorder, Mr. F. W. Beney, K.C., that Cecilia Evans acted under stress from him and he regretted it.

He said: "I am a State-made criminal and I ask for no mercy. My thoughts go back to 1914 when I was sent for seven years to an industrial school for stealing apples.

"I am not going to tell you I shall go straright because there is not the slightest chance. The punishment lies when one comse out of prison."

The Recorder told the woman: "Apart from one lapse you have lived an honest and useful life until you fell into the company of this rogue."

CHAMPION OF TRIBES

Rev. Michael Scott, champion of the Herero tribes. He joined the Indian Passive Resistance Campaign in South Africa and was sentenced to 3 months' imprisonment. He is not a misinformed fanatic nor an irresponsible troublemaker, as his enemies claim. He is a consistent human being, with rather more than the usual amount of social conscience and much more than average determination to see a job through.

"Contributing To A Peaceful Solution"

MADRAS, June 4 (A. P. I.): Mr. Andersen, one of the two neutral "observers to the forthcoming referendum in French Indian settlements stated here that, if the Government of India considered that the question of the future status of these settlements was an "international political affair," they had every right to refer this question to the Security Council of the United Nations. "So far, the Government of India have not done so because, at the moment, there exists no international controversy between these two countries", he said.

Mr. Andersen was replying to a question whether the referendum under "neutral" observers would not violate the earlier agreement on this question between India and French Government.

"I would like to assure that the presence of neutral observers would contribute to a peaceful solution of the future status of these settlements and maintain the good relations between France and India", Mr. Andersen added.

MIXED GRILL

By Grumbler

ROAD regimentation, presumably has come to stay, in Bombay. It is a good thing too, in its own way. But like Patriotism, it is not enough. The powers that be must think a little more.

Go and stand near the Churchgate station of an evening. You see a thick mass of humanity flowing past like a muddy river. Suddenly the limbs of the law put up their hands, the flow of the river is dammed. On the footpath curving round the garden attached to the headquarters of the B. B. & C. I. stand hundreds of people, jampacked uncomfortably, while the pressure of the human stream pouring from behind gathers weight. Bombay's sun is exactly pleasant, but its mosoon is utterly pitiless. These men and women, held on that narrow, curving footpath just means nothing to it.

It is true that if they are not held up but allowed to run helter skelter there might be accidents; but can nothing more be done to relieve the situation? That footpath is narrow. It was narrower still. Some amplitude was given to it by bending it outwards and encroaching on the road. It would, however, be the simplest thing to broaden the footpath, just by bending it inwards and utilising a part of the garden. That garden is not a public garden. It is purely ornamental in purpose. Only the few top-ranking officials who sit in the B. B. & C. I. headquarters may consider it an amenity. Even in their case nobody has seen them lolling on the lawns or gazing at the flowers. Why should such a private garden be allowed to come in the way of creating some measure of convenience to the vast public?

Again, I do not see what is the difficulty in letting the people pass through the garden. There is a clear path which runs between the building and the garden. It is used mostly for parking the cars of the big guns of the B. B. & C. I. Even if it is urged that the passing of people in front of their offices disturbs these high and mighty ones, can it not be permitted at least during the rush hours in the morning and evening, when probably the officials are not on their thrones?

In fact the arrangement at the B. B. & C. I. headquarters has always struck me as fantastic. There is a touch of arrogance about it too. The entire porch, the verandah and the garden in front are absolutely banned to anyone except the four or five big officials who have their rooms overlooking the garden and their liveried chobdars. None dare enter that gate. If you want to see the officials, you must go behind and come through doors which open out on a narrow corridor at the rear. The front is meant for the protection of the officials' cars for which a temporary canopy is built every rainy season. This appears to be not only the height of the absurdity but a piece of unpardonable extravagance when it is remembered that there is a good car park and spacious garages just on the other side of the head office building.

THE DAYS OF THE WHITE SAHEBS WHO RULED THIS PART OF THE EARTH ARE SURELY NOT OVER.

TRANSJORDAN-ISRAEL CRISIS BREWING

(From Our Correspondent)

AMMAN, May 27.— Divergent views between Transjordan and Israel over the interpretation of certain articles in the Rhodes Armistice agreement concerning Jerusalem threaten to develop into a crisis which might require a ruling by the United Nations Security Council, according to United Nations Conciliation Commission sources in Jerusalem.

Thus, when the Special Committee, obtained from the Rhodes agreement, meet on May 29, the Arab delegates expect to face renewed Israeli insistence for conceding free access through Arab-held territory north of Jerusalem to the Hebrew University and the Hadassah Hospital on Mount Scopus as well as access to Jerusalem itself through the Latrun "bottleneck", 25 kilometres west of the city.

The Arab delegates, it is authoritatively learned, have been instructed not to yield to Israeli demands unless equally vital concessions were made by Israel.

Aware of the seriousness of the situation, members of the Conciliation Commission staff are understood to be using their influence with both parties to prevent the reaching of a stage where the Israeli Government would, by resorting to force, once more present United Nations with an accomplished fact.

Usually well-informed quarters here today discloesd that the Israelis also planned to complain to the Security Council alleging that Arab conditional acquiescence to grant the demanded "free access" constituted a breach of the armistice terms because they were asking compensatory concessions from the Israelis.

According to these quarters, Arab counter-demands had been rejected in their entirety by the Israeli negotiators at the meeting of the Special Committee on May 19. These demands included fulfilment by the Jews of conditions regarded by the Arabs as equally vital for the "resumption of the normal functioning of cultural and humanitarian institutions.... and free access thereto."

Official quarters in Transjordan maintain that since the relevant Article (8) of the armistice agreement does not set a time-limit for conceding free access to Mount Scopus, the Arab "bargaining" attitude to which the Israelis object could legitimately proceed until April 3, 1950— the date of expiry of the agreement. These quarters add that decisions concerning the provisions of Article (8) must be adopted unanimously, and that any unilateral action would itself be regarded as a breach.

It is recalled that the Mount Scopus area was taken under United Nations "protection" on July 7, 1948, when the Transjordan military command undertook to respect the neutral character which the area thereby assumed.

Col. Moshe Dayan, leader of the Israeli delegation to the Special Committee, was reported on May 19 to have announced the intention of his Government to demand the handing over, by United Nations Palestine Mediation Commission, of the area, threatening "And then, we shall send in our forces there." Col. Dayan did not, however, specify the manner in which the Israeli forces would be sent through Arab territory without the latter's consent.
